

HONORS FACULTY INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL AWARD
DESCRIPTION & APPLICATION FORM

The Honors Institute, in conjunction with the International Education Program, invites all Honors faculty to apply for the 2009 Honors Faculty International Travel Award.

Description:

The International Honors Travel Award is a special recognition for an honors faculty member who has made notable contributions to the Honors Institute. The award (maximum $2500 in travel expenses) consists of a 7-10 day overseas trip to a site where BC has an International Program or an International Program in which BC is affiliated through other colleges, such as the CCIS program. The recipient will coordinate the trip with Dr. David Moore, Associate Vice President of International Education, and plan all details to individualize the location, dates, etc. In addition to sightseeing and personal or academic research activities, faculty members who receive this award may be asked to provide some academic or technical assistance to the host institution which supports the affiliation at the BC international site. The award will be presented at the Honors Faculty Recognition Luncheon.

Criteria:

- Experience with or in the Honors Institute, such as teaching/advising/recruiting
- Revision of an existing honors course or development of a new honors course(s)
- Involvement in the promotion of the Honors Institute
- Participation in honors events, workshops, etc.
- Demonstration of commitment to and professional growth in honors

The application deadline is March 20, 2009
