

And BROWARD COLLEGE INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC SAFETY Present

CELL PHONE INVESTIGATIONS for Law Enforcement/Legal Professionals

FORT LAUDERDALE, FLORIDA • FEBRUARY 7, 2012

This INFORMATIVE course is designed to teach Law Enforcement and Legal Professionals how a cell phone works, where its data is stored, and how to preserve it.

Cell Phones are the new means of communication between criminals. The ability to move about and reach the far ends of the earth makes it a natural communication means for the enterprising criminal. These phones are everywhere and 9 out of 10 Americans have one. If you need evidence, leads, witnesses, etc, you can get it off the cell phone! Move over computers, the new kid in town is the cell phone!

Many law enforcement and legal professionals don't have a firm grasp on how to handle a cell phone properly. Pertinent data can be lost in an instant. This class gives law enforcement and legal professionals the solid training needed to deal with this new technology in the field or in the office.

Discussion will include:

- Cell Phones and What Data They Contain
- How to Properly Preserve the Data in a Mobile Phone
- Deleted Data Explained and its Retrievability
- The Laws Dealing with Cell Phones
- Search Warrant Language

Training will include Comprehensive Handouts on:

- "Cheat Sheet" for Handy Reference in the Field
- Retention of Cell Phone Data Sheet
- Resources Index

This is not a class on Cell Phone Forensics, but this class will enable law enforcement and legal professionals to properly answer the common questions about cell phones, what to expect from the phone and how to properly maintain the evidence.

INSTRUCTOR:

Tom Slovenski is the owner of Cellular Forensics, LLC, specializing in cell phone and cell tower examinations and training. As a former law enforcement detective and now a forensics examiner, Tom has over 25 years of experience. As a Cellular Forensic Examiner, Tom enthusiastically endeavors to assist, train and inform legal professionals in the importance of the cell phone and the value of Cellular Forensics in a case. Tom's articles on Cellular Forensics for investigators have been published internationally. In 2011, Tom was honored for the fourth year in a row as a featured guest instructor at the Mobile Forensics World Conference. Tom is also an Instructor for the Department of State's international Anti-Terrorism Assistance Program.

TARGET AUDIENCE:

All members of the criminal justice community (sworn or non-sworn), Attorneys, Paralegals, and Insurance Investigators. Students do not need to bring a laptop but it is permitted.
