GENERAL STATEMENT
Broward College has established an Institutional Review Board (IRB) to assure that any research conducted at the College involving the collection or analysis of data collected from or about human subjects conforms to the following ethical standards based on the ethical principles, as required by the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS):

- Respect for Persons: recognizing the autonomy, and dignity of all human subjects and the awareness of additional needs and lack of autonomy of vulnerable subjects, including economically or educationally disadvantaged persons, children, prisoners, pregnant women, and those persons who are cognitively or mentally impaired.
- Beneficence: protecting persons from harm by maximizing anticipated study benefits and minimizing possible risks associated with the research.
- Justice: fairness in the dissemination of research benefits and burdens.

THE POLICY and THE STUDENT, THE FACULTY AND STAFF, and the COLLEGE
The IRB is responsible for the review of all research involving human subjects conducted under the auspices of Broward College by its faculty members, students, staff, administrators, as well as by outside investigators using Broward College students, faculty, staff, and administrators, or facilities, whether the research is funded or not.

THE POLICY/PROCESS
The policy or process, including all information related to the required documents and the submission of such, the contact information for the committee chair, links to the required forms, information regarding required training, a submission checklist including all information that must be completed prior to the submission of the packet to the IRB, the types of IRB review, the IRB review and notification processes, and the continued or annual review of the research project can be found at: www.broward.edu/irb.

IMPLEMENTATION and OVERSIGHT
The IRB Committee at Broward College is composed of faculty, administrators, and staff, and an external community member (non-college affiliate, including alumni). The IRB Committee will meet once a month during the academic year to assess completed IRB proposal packets.

VIOLATION OF POLICY
Any violations of this policy will be reviewed by the IRB Committee and the College Provost and Senior Vice President for Academics and Student Success (or designee). The IRB has the authority to suspend or terminate approval of research that is not being conducted in accordance with the IRB’s requirements or that is associated with unexpected serious harm to subjects (45 CFR 46.113). A suspension or termination of IRB approval of research may occur at any time during the period for which IRB approval had already been granted. At any time during the approval period, if further participation is deemed to not be in the best interest
