from President Gregory Adam Haile, Esq.

COLLEGE NEWS

Meet South Florida's 2019 Power Leaders

President Haile, along with Matt Caldwell, president and CEO of the Florida Panthers and Sunrise Sports & Entertainment and a member of the Broward College Board of Trustees, are listed among "South Florida's 2019 Power Leaders 250," by the South Florida Business Journal. The list represents an annual compilation of local industry leaders and a "who's who" among business elite across South Florida.

Broward College Wins Award for International Partnerships

Broward College is the recipient of an IIE Andrew Heiskell Award for Innovation in International Education, which honors outstanding initiatives among the 1,300 college and university members within the Institute of International Education network.

Alan Goodman (left), president of the Institute for International Education presents the IIE Andrew Heiskell Award for Innovation to Dr. David Moore, executive director, International Education, Broward College, and President Haile.

The achievement was in recognition of the College's "Third Way" program, which allows students to earn associate degrees at Broward College – while they remain in their home countries – before transferring to four-year universities in the United States to complete a bachelor's degree. Since 1979, more than 8,600 students in Third Way have transferred credits earned at Broward College to another institution.

Broward College has international centers in Bolivia, Brazil, China, Ecuador, India, Indonesia, Peru, Spain, Sri Lanka, and Vietnam as well as academic affiliations in Singapore.

"International students studying alongside Americans are a tremendous asset to the United States," said Marie Royce, assistant secretary of state for Educational and Cultural Affairs within the U.S. state department. "We need to develop leaders in all fields who can take on our toughest challenges. We need people who can find solutions that keep us secure and make us more prosperous. We want to send a message that international education makes us stronger as a country."

Broward College to House Florida Children's Theatre Operations

In a move designed to increase engagement and performance opportunities for students, Florida Children's Theatre (FLCT) will operate out of a new, state-of-the-art center to be located on the A. Hugh Adams Central Campus in Davie. The renovated facility will offer additional classroom, rehearsal and performance spaces, beginning January 1, 2020. Internships, as well as joint programming in arts education, will benefit students of both Broward College and FLCT, as well as the greater community.

Former Miami Herald Publisher Welcomed to Campus

David Lawrence, Jr., the former publisher of the Miami Herald and a tireless advocate for early childhood education, was a guest speaker at A. Hugh Adams Central Campus. Lawrence, whose presentation was organized by the Education Pathway, shared the story of his childhood, growing up on a farm where his family sold chickens and he drove a tractor. He presented these life lessons and reflections on his legendary career to the Broward College community, where he signed copies of his recently published memoir, "A Dedicated Life: Journalism, Justice and a Chance for Every Child."

Lawrence served as publisher of the Miami Herald from 1989-1999. As founder and the driving force behind the Children's Movement of Florida and the Children's Trust, Lawrence raised millions of dollars as well as awareness and political support for early education and health services locally and across the state. Lawrence also played a key role in a statewide constitutional amendment calling for pre-K for all four-year-olds.

Minority Male Initiative Offers Professional Development Workshop

Strategies and interventions for rebuilding cognitive resources for students were discussed at a recent professional development workshop for the Broward College community, which included deans, AVPs, students, faculty and staff. The event was held on the A. Hugh Adams Central Campus and made possible through a partnership among the Minority Male Initiative (MMI), the College of Teacher Education and Leadership, and Workforce Education & Economic Development. The workshop was facilitated by Dr. Cia Verschelden, executive director of Institutional Assessment at the University of Central Oklahoma. The sessions were based on her book, “Bandwidth Recovery: Helping Students Reclaim Cognitive Resources Lost to Poverty, Racism and Social Marginalization.”

TEDx Talk Coming to South Campus

The Broward College community is invited to “share their ideas worth sharing” about art, culture, technology, science, and society during its second TEDx talk on Friday, March 15, 2019, at the Performing and Cultural Arts Theater, on the Judson A. Samuels South Campus. Sponsored by a nonpartisan nonprofit dedicated to spreading ideas, TEDx talks have become popular avenues that allow just about anyone to become a speaker, provided their topic has the potential to connect an audience to subject matter that is likely to be unfamiliar to them. The free event, entitled “Ignite and Inspire,” begins 4:15 p.m., and features two sessions. Register at <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/tedx-broward-college-tickets-56072131254>

North Campus Leader Named President of Harper College

Congratulations to Dr. Avis Proctor, president of the Broward College North Campus in Coconut Creek, who was selected as the next president of William Rainey Harper College in Palatine, Ill. Dr. Proctor will officially assume her new role on July 1, 2019, when she becomes Harper College’s first female and African-American president.

After joining the mathematics faculty at Broward College in 2000, Dr. Proctor served on North Campus as associate dean of the Mathematics department, associate vice president for Academic Affairs, vice president for Academic Affairs, and campus president.

MSD Moment of Silence

In support of Broward County public schools and districts across Florida, the Broward College community honored those who tragically lost their lives a year ago at the Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School with a moment of silence on Thursday, February 14, at the main campus locations.

Evinrude Makes Engine Donation to the Broward College Marine Program

Broward College has received a 200 hp HO (high output) 3.4 liter Evinrude ETEC G2 valued at just over $20,000 from Evinrude, the American Boat and Yacht Council (ABYC) and the National Marine Distributors Association (NMDA). The engine, delivered a few weeks ago, is part of a two-million-dollar donation from the ABYC Foundation supporting next-generation marine technician training. The donation, which is the largest of its kind in history, is meant to address the shortage of qualified marine technicians by supporting training in high schools and colleges across the U.S. and Canada.

Robert and Cachet Daley Scholarship Donor Meets Beneficiary

Cachet Daley, an alumna of Broward College, established the Robert and Cachet Daley Scholarship in the spring of 2017, to benefit student scholars such as Nancy Austin, whose parents are either incarcerated or formerly incarcerated by the Florida Department of Corrections or a federal corrections facility in Florida.

“Meeting the scholarship recipient confirmed that every bit of courage and effort to establish this unique scholarship was impacting and necessary in bridging the gap for disenfranchised persons that were inadvertently affected by things outside of their control,” said Daley. “The recipient and I were able to collectively share and connect by common and painful experience with the goal to be better than the previous generation. Nancy inspires me to continue reaching to establish positive social change.”

Former Miami Dolphin Standout Establishes BC Scholarship

Nancy O'Donnell-Wilson, vice president for advancement and executive director of the Broward College Foundation, and Johnny Williams, executive director of the Gridiron Grill-Off, LLC.

The Gridiron Grill-Off, a subsidiary of the Offerdahl Hands-Off Foundation, raised $25,000 to establish the Offerdahl Scholarship, which will assist students who are from families in the Home Team Advantage Restorative Housing Program and seeking two or four year degrees or certifications. John Offerdahl, a former Miami Dolphins linebacker, and his wife, Lynne, established their foundation to help families get back on their feet financially and become self-efficient by providing housing and educational support to be used toward the pursuit of college degrees or certifications. An additional $25,000 gift is anticipated in June.

Judson A. Samuels South Campus Kicks Off 2019 Student Forums

A team of Student Government Association (SGA) leaders presented results of a student survey for the 2018-2019 academic year. Katelyn Johnston, president; Alysse Lambert, vice president; and Nina Robinson, student government senator for Partnership Centers, reported that student concerns at the Judson A. Samuels South campus included better food options, more student events, and additional outdoor lighting. Students at the Partnership Centers asked for more food choices and more Student Life activities.

The SGA leaders were satisfied that administrators addressed or plan to respond to the concerns. The board gathered student feedback during the SGA Welcome Back Breakfast, open campus forum, and a campus-wide survey.

A Q&A session followed the SGA presentations. Students asked questions in-person and by video recordings. Topics ranged from transportation and the need for upgraded technology, to increased aviation training space, and College marketing efforts.

Broward College Foundation Recognizes Pam Stephany and the William R. Watts Foundation

Stephany served as chair of the Broward College Foundation Board of Directors for the past two years and will assume the role of immediate past chair for the next two years. Nancy O'Donnell Wilson, executive director of the Broward College Foundation, said Stephany has a passion for education, and brought more than 30 years of experience implementing complex global financial and investment strategies to the Broward College Foundation.

After her recognition, Stephany led the acknowledgment for the William R. Watts Foundation, created in 1979 by Mr. Watts and substantially funded even after his death. Each year, the Watts Foundation distributes a portion of its income to charities with principal offices and activities in Miami-Dade or Broward County. In 2001 and 2002, the Watts Foundation provided Broward College with gifts of $10,000 each for the WINGS program, and recently two additional gifts of $10,000 each for the American Dream Scholarship. Wil Greaton, of the law firm Greaton and Greaton, represented the Watts Foundation.

Anthea Pennant Appointed to Broward County Sales Tax Oversight Board

The Board of Trustees recognized Anthea Pennant, district director of Supplier Diversity, to the Broward County Sales Tax Oversight Board, which will manage an estimated $360 million per year generated from the recently approved Penny

Tax. Pennant, who has more than 20 years' experience in executive leadership with non-profits, was selected based on her advocacy for 30 percent of the revenue from the tax to be set aside for minority-based businesses.
