REGALIA

In medieval universities, students and teachers wore gowns indicating their status and scholastic achievements. Today, European institutions still show great diversity in the specifications of academic dress, and American colleges and universities adopted a system which all could follow. In 1895, at Columbia University, an intercollegiate commission drafted a uniform code for the use of caps, gowns and hoods. These standards, with few revisions, are still in effect. Broward College follows the Academic Costume Code.

Four academic degrees are generally recognized: the associate, the bachelor, the master and the doctor. The associate degrees (Associate of Arts and Associate of Science) are offered by standard two-year colleges. The other three are conferred by universities and colleges. The bachelor's or baccalaureate degree takes its name directly from the medieval practice of "bachelors" wearing a garland of bayberries. The master's degree was equivalent to a license to teach, and sometimes was followed by the express words Licentia Docendi. The doctor's degree, when earned by study, indicates advanced study and independent research in a specialized field of learning. Honorary degrees are granted for meritorious service and for distinction in public or private endeavor.

Those holding a bachelor's degree wear a black gown fastened at the top, distinguished by long pointed sleeves hanging nearly to the knees. The master's gown, worn open, has long closed sleeves with an arc of a circle appearing near the bottom and a slit for the arm near the middle of the sleeves. The doctor's gown, usually worn open, is made of silk, faced with a broad strip of velvet, and has three bars of velvet on each sleeve. A hood made of the same material may be worn with the gown. The bachelor's hood is three feet long, with a two-inch strip of velvet; the master's hood is three and one-half feet long, faced with a three-inch strip of velvet; the doctor's hood is four feet long, faced with a five-inch strip of velvet. The color of the tassel or velvet strip on the hood indicates the field of study in which the degree was earned or granted, as for example: ARTS, white; SCIENCE, golden yellow; EDUCATION, light blue; ENGINEERING, orange; MUSIC, pink; LIBRARY SCHOOL, lemon yellow; BUSINESS, drab; JOURNALISM, crimson; LAW, purple; THEOLOGY, scarlet; PHILOSOPHY, dark blue. Each hood is also lined in silk with the colors of the institution which granted the degree.

The appropriate cap for all degrees is the familiar black "mortar board." A tassel, black or a color signifying the field of specialization, is worn hanging to the left of the face. Those holding a doctor's degree may wear a soft velvet cap of the color indicating their field of study, or with the mortar board, they may wear a tassel in gold or in part of gold thread.

The mace, carried by the parade marshal, is a symbol of the authority vested in the college president. In medieval times, it was a weapon of war which was effective against the strongest armor and was used chiefly by knights. Maces were often borne by a royal bodyguard to protect the king in processions, but in the course of time (by the 14th century), they assumed more ceremonial functions and lost their warlike appearance. A mace is carried in academic and ecclesiastical processions, particularly in English-speaking countries.

At Broward College, academic distinction is noted by the addition of one or both of the following to the graduate's regalia: The tri-cords in royal blue, white and antique gold represent the academic distinction of membership in the Robert "Bob" Elmore Honors College. The gold satin stole and gold tassel represents the academic distinction of membership in Phi Theta Kappa. Veterans of the United States Armed forces wear a silver medallion to signify their service to our nation. Students wearing the navy blue and silver intertwined cord are graduating from Broward College with a minimum of a 3.25 GPA.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Dominic Calabro

President and CEO, Florida TaxWatch

Dominic M. Calabro is President and Chief Executive Officer of Florida TaxWatch, a statewide, non-profit, non-partisan government watchdog and research center for taxpayers. Florida TaxWatch was founded in 1979 to improve government productivity, taxpayer value, and citizen understanding and encouraging responsible participation by Floridians in their state and local governments. This is accomplished by advancing productivity and sound investment in Florida government and through research on how tax and spend regulatory decisions affect Floridians' livelihood and quality of life.

Calabro is an "almost native" Floridian, having moved to South Florida from New York at the age of eleven. After attending Catholic school, including four years at Catholic Seminary, Calabro graduated with high honors from Broward Community College, later receiving his Bachelor's degree with the highest honors from Florida International University. Calabro also holds a Master's degree from Florida State University and will soon be receiving a second Master's degree in public finance and budgeting.

Before joining TaxWatch in 1980, Calabro served as an analyst with the Florida Senate Ways and Means Committee (later split into Appropriations and Finance and Tax). Under Calabro's leadership, Florida TaxWatch has earned and maintained the respect of the state's most highly regarded and influential leaders and has attracted positive attention from both the citizens of Florida and the state and national media. Calabro was recognized yearly in Florida Trend's Florida 500—Florida's Most Influential Business Leaders—until 2018 when he was recognized as a Living Legend, a permanent distinction for notable leaders. Additionally, he was honored in News Service of Florida's 50 over 50 list, recognizing accomplished Florida leaders over age 50, and ranked 45th in City & State Florida Magazine's Power 100 in 2022. In addition to many business and civic honors, Calabro was named by the national Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of Ten Outstanding Young Americans for 1994. Calabro resides in Tallahassee with his wife, Debbie, and four children.

BROWARD COLLEGE

Created by the Florida Legislature in 1959, Broward College serves more than 51,000 students with the support of more than 3,300 full-time and part-time faculty and staff.

Broward College fulfills its mission each day, “Transforming students’ lives and enriching our community through academic excellence, innovation, and meaningful career opportunities,” by offering first-time college students, adult learners, and career professionals more than 165 academic programs across eight career-related pathways. Programs include specialized certificates, two- and four-year degrees. The College also offers non-degree training, workforce readiness, and an extensive list of continuing education curriculum.

Broward College’s work has been recognized through various awards and rankings. In April 2023, the College was named a Finalist for the 2023 Aspen Prize for Community College Excellence—an honor that follows the College’s recognition as an Aspen Prize Finalist with Distinction in 2021 and 2017, and an Aspen Prize Finalist in 2019 and 2013. The 2023-2024 U.S. News & World Report ranked the College one of the Best Southern Regional Colleges, one of the Top Public Schools Among Southern Regional Colleges, and one of the Best Colleges for Veterans Among Southern Regional Colleges.
